

The Together Team

Unity is strength and teamwork helps us achieve so much more than we each can as individuals. At every workplace, we find teams or groups of uniquely different people who get together to combine their own core competences to make a combined effort to provide a service that is required.

We spend 25 to 30% of our waking hours at our workplace. If we want this time to be utilised best, we need to enjoy interacting with colleagues, understand each other's strengths, weaknesses and interests and support each other. Team building helps achieve this.

- Understanding the concept of TEAM
- Group interactions & games
- Identifying areas needing rework/organisation
